Brief summary of bill and anticipated fiscal impact:
The proposed amendments would:

- Amend 23B.07.070 to clarify rules for fixing record dates, to remove the subsections governing records dates for share dividends and distributions to shareholders, moving those provisions to 23B.06.230 and 06.400 (the provisions governing share dividends and distributions generally), and to make correlative changes in other sections;
- Amend Chapter 11 of the WBCA to add a “medium form” merger provision and make correlative changes in other sections;
- Amend 23B.11.010 expressly to (1) permit the “amendment and restatement” of the surviving corporation’s articles of incorporation through the plan of merger, and (2) authorize the cancellation of some shares in connection with a plan of merger;
- Amend 23B.11.050 and 11.090 to eliminate the plan of merger or share exchange as a required element of the articles of merger or share exchange;
- Amend 23B.07.020 to add a deadline for delivery of sufficient demands for special meetings that corresponds with deadlines for delivery of shareholder consents generally; and
- Amend 23B.07.200 expressly to permit a corporation to make the shareholder list required in connection with shareholder meetings available on an electronic network.

More detail on the proposed changes is included in CARC’s memo to the Committee.

CARC believes there will be no fiscal impact will result from the proposed changes.

Proposed Bar-Request Legislation Cover Sheet

Brief statement of need:
CARC continues to review the WBCA and propose changes designed to both modernize the WBCA where appropriate and to align the WBCA with the Model Business Corporation Act (2016 Revision) and desirable changes to the Delaware General Corporation Law. CARC believes the proposed changes would (1) help achieve this objective, (2) clarify ambiguous or eliminate unnecessary provisions, and (3) help Washington business practitioners in advising Washington corporations.

Description of draft development: (please provide detail)
The changes were originally drafted by CARC members and presented to the committee for its consideration in early 2021. Draft development took into consideration recently adopted changes to the Delaware General Corporation Law and the latest version of the Model Business Corporation Act. After deliberations and multiple revisions, CARC approved the proposed changes in the summer of 2021. The Executive Committee of the Business Law Section approved the proposed changes in its meeting held on August 19, 2021.

How does the proposal meet requirements under GR 12.2? (please explain)
CARC believes the proposal contributes to the WSBA’s objective of promoting an effective legal system and allows the bar to maintain a legislative presence to ensure that the Washington Business Corporation Act continues to effectively serve the needs of the state’s business community.

RE: Proposed Changes to Washington Business Corporation Act for 2022 Legislative Session (Record Dates; Merger/Share Exchange)

This memorandum summarizes CARC’s proposed changes to the Washington Business Corporation Act, Title 23B of the Revised Code of Washington (WBCA), relating to two general topics:

- Record dates (summarized in Section A of this memorandum); and
- Mergers and share exchanges (summarized in Section B of this memorandum).

CARC is also proposing some additional changes to the WBCA that are unrelated to these topics (summarized in Section C of this memorandum).

The changes were approved by the Executive Committee of the Business Law Section at its meeting on August 19, 2021. CARC requests that the Legislative Review Committee consider the proposed changes described in this memorandum and recommend these changes to the WSBA’s Board of Governors as WSBA-request legislation.

The specific changes proposed are shown in Appendix A and are marked against the current version of the relevant sections of the WBCA.

A. Record Dates.

Record dates for purposes of determining shareholders of record entitled to notice of meetings, to approve corporate actions by written consent in lieu of meetings, and for other purposes are currently governed by Section 23B.07.070. Chapter 7 of the WBCA generally governs shareholder meetings, shareholder approval by written consent and other matters relating to shareholder voting. Somewhat awkwardly, Section 23B.07.070 includes rules governing the fixing of record dates for corporate actions that are generally governed by sections in other chapters of the WBCA (e.g., share dividends and distributions, which are governed by Sections 23B.06.230 and 06.400, respectively). In contrast, the Model Business Corporation Act (2016 Revision) (MBCA) locates provisions for establishing record dates for those matters within the sections that substantively govern those corporate actions (i.e., Sections 6.23 and 6.40).

Consistent with the approach taken in the MBCA, CARC proposes that (1) Section 23B.07.070 be amended to remove the subsections governing record dates for share dividends and distributions, and (2) Sections 23B.06.230 and 06.400 (governing share dividends and distributions to shareholders, respectively) be amended to include the rules governing the fixing of record dates for those corporate actions within those chapters. This would also require a minor related change to the definition of “record date” in Section 23B.01.400(33).
Section 23B.07.070 also includes the requirement that a record date must be a “future date.” This phrase introduces some ambiguity about whether a record date can be fixed as of the date the board adopts the resolution fixing the record date (although CARC believes most practitioners are comfortable setting a record date as of the date the board resolution is adopted). In contrast, the operative provisions of the MBCA state that a record date “may not be retroactive” and Section 213 of the Delaware General Corporation Law (DGCL) states that a record date “shall not precede the date on which the resolution fixing the record date is adopted by the board of directors,” each of which eliminates that ambiguity. CARC recommends that we follow Delaware’s approach and amend Section 23B.07.070 to clarify this ambiguity.

B. Mergers and Share Exchanges.

CARC is proposing a number of changes to Chapter 11 of the WBCA, which governs mergers and share exchanges, and some related changes to Chapter 13 of the WBCA, which governs dissenters’ rights.

The most significant change to Chapter 11 would be to add a so-called “medium-form” merger provision similar to Section 251(h) of the DGCL. Currently, the WBCA generally requires that shareholders of a Washington corporation that is a party to a merger approve the plan of merger. A “medium-form” merger provision dispenses with the requirement of shareholder approval of a merger in the case of two-step transactions that involve a front-end tender offer followed by a back-end merger to squeeze out shareholders who do not tender their shares in the tender offer. The MBCA also includes a medium-form merger provision in Section 11.04(j) (which also applies to share exchanges). Although there are few significant substantive variations between Section 251(h) of the DGCL and Section 11.04(j) of the MBCA, CARC believes the MBCA approach feathers seamlessly into Section 23B.11.030 (the WBCA provision that is analogous to Section 11.04 of the MBCA). Accordingly, CARC is proposing to add a new subsection (9) to Section 23B.11.030 that authorizes medium-form mergers (as well as a new subsection (10) that includes associated definitions).

As proposed, to avoid the requirement of shareholder approval of a plan of merger under subsection (9) of Section 23B.11.030:

- the plan of merger must permit or require the merger to be effected under the new subsection;
- the offeror must make an offer (which must remain open at least 10 days) to purchase all of the target corporation’s outstanding shares (other than shares owned by the target or the offeror) on the terms and conditions stated in the plan of merger;
- the plan of merger must provide, and the offer information must disclose, that the merger will be effected as soon as practicable after the offer is consummated;
- the offeror must purchase all shares properly tendered in the offer;
- on consummation of the offer, the offeror must own enough shares to approve the merger (through shares already owned, shares purchased in the offer, and shares owned by third parties who have agreed to contribute their shares to the offeror);
- the offeror (or a subsidiary) must merge with or into the target after the offer is consummated; and
- the merger consideration payable in respect of shares not tendered in the offer must be the same (in amount and type) that is paid or exchanged for shares tendered in the offer.

1 The latter facilitates transactions by private equity funds and other financial buyers in which management or other key shareholders agree to roll over their equity in the target.
The MBCA provision applies both to mergers and statutory share exchanges. However, CARC has limited proposed subsection (9) of Section 23B.11.030 to mergers on the basis that share exchanges are rarely if ever used in M&A transactions. The MBCA provision does not limit the medium-form provision to public companies. However, Section 251(h) of the DGCL does, and CARC believes it is appropriate to include that limitation in Washington’s statute. As a practical matter, CARC felt it would be very unlikely that a two-step structure would make much sense for an acquisition of a non-public company. CARC concluded that the best course of action is to limit medium-form mergers to public companies and not to apply the medium-form provisions to share exchanges.

As the medium-form merger would be an entirely new type of merger transaction under the WBCA, changes to various sections of Chapter 13 of the WBCA (governing dissenters’ rights) are also needed. Accordingly, CARC has proposed changes to Sections 23B.13.020, .200, .210, .220 and .230 to layer medium-form mergers into the dissenters’ rights chapter. These are largely based on analogous provisions in the MBCA chapter governing appraisal rights.

In addition to the proposed amendments described above, CARC has proposed changes to Section 23B.11.010 that expressly permits the “amendment and restatement” of the surviving corporation’s articles of incorporation through the plan of merger. Currently, that section only contemplates “amendments.” In the past, this has led the Secretary of State to reject merger filings when the post-closing articles of incorporation attached to the filing are styled as “amended and restated.” CARC believes that Washington practitioners have routinely used awkward means to work around this limitation (e.g., by including a full set of new articles as an exhibit to the filing but referring to them as “amended articles of incorporation” rather than “amended and restated”). To avoid that technically awkward designation, CARC is proposing that Section 23B.11.010 be revised to expressly permit restatements that include amendments. This change would also require certain corresponding changes to Sections 23B.11.060, .11.050 and .11.090.

CARC is also proposing revisions to address one problem with the WBCA that Washington practitioners occasionally confront - that is, when the amount of consideration that an acquirer is willing to pay is less than needed to satisfy liquidation preferences on preferred stock, leaving nothing remaining for common shareholders or junior preferred stock (which is not unusual in distressed sales of VC-backed companies). Practitioners currently are left to wonder whether a plan of merger for such a transaction can validly provide for the cancellation the junior stock of the target corporation. In contrast, there is explicit authorization in DGCL § 251(b)(5) for the cancellation of shares in an agreement of merger governed by Delaware law. To eliminate any ambiguity that a plan of merger governed by the WBCA can provide for the cancellation of some shares, CARC has proposed a modest but important modification to Section 23B.11.010(2)(c) that would expressly authorize cancellation of some shares in connection with a plan of merger.

CARC is also proposing changes to sections of Chapter 11 that govern requirements for articles of merger and share exchange (Sections 23B.11.050 and .11.090). These sections currently require that the articles of merger or share exchange filed with the Secretary of State to effect a merger or share exchange include the plan of merger or share exchange itself. This requirement has been a frequent source of concern for Washington practitioners when the parties to a merger do not want the plan of merger to be a matter of public record.² The concern arises mostly arises in the context of private company M&A transactions, particularly for financial buyers, private strategic buyers and public strategic buyers for whom the transaction is not material enough to require the merger agreement to be filed with the SEC. These parties are typically reluctant to file the long-form merger agreement as part of the articles of merger. The customary work around has been to prepare a “short-form” plan of merger that incorporates only the bare minimum of statutory requirements from the long-form merger agreement for purposes of the filing.

In contrast to the WBCA provisions, the MBCA provisions governing the required content of articles of merger and share exchange do not require the plan of merger or share exchange to be included in the filing that effects the transaction. Instead, these provisions require only the identification of the parties to the merger or share exchange (and the surviving corporation in the case of a merger), certain other information relating to satisfaction of shareholder approval requirements and, in the case of mergers, amendments to the surviving corporation’s articles of incorporation. CARC is proposing changes to Sections 23B.11.050 and .11.090 that would largely align these provisions to the analogous provisions in the MBCA. This would eliminate the plan of merger or share exchange as a required element of the articles of merger or share exchange.

C. Miscellaneous.

CARC is proposing that some other changes to sections of Chapter 7 of the WBCA that it believes should be made at this time.

The first proposed change would amend Section 23B.07.020 to add a requirement that, when multiple shareholders aggregate their holdings to satisfy the ownership threshold required to call a special meeting, demands for a special meeting must be received within 60 days of the first demand delivered to the corporation. This would align this section with the corresponding section of the MBCA.

The second proposed change would amend Section 23B.07.200 to expressly permit a corporation to maintain the shareholders list required to be prepared and made available to shareholders before and during shareholders meeting on an electronic network. The WBCA is currently ambiguous whether an electronic shareholders list is permissible. A related proposed change would affirmatively require the list to be made available on an electronic network in the case of virtual meetings. These changes are not reflected in the MBCA but are similar to provisions included in the DGCL.

3 This is also the case under Sections 251(c) and 252(c) of the DGCL.
4 However, the language in the MBCA provision is more general and the MBCA commentary specifically states that an electronic list is permissible.

(2) The board of directors may fix the record date for determining shareholders entitled to a distribution, which date may not precede the date on which the resolution fixing the record date is approved by the board of directors. If the board of directors does not fix a record date for determining shareholders entitled to a distribution (other than one involving a purchase, redemption, or other acquisition of the corporation’s shares), the record date is the date the board of directors authorizes the distribution.

(23) No distribution may be made if, after giving it effect:
For purposes of determinations under subsection (23) of this section:

(a) The board of directors may base a determination that a distribution is not prohibited under subsection (23) of this section either on financial statements prepared on the basis of accounting practices and principles that are reasonable in the circumstances or on a fair valuation or other method that is reasonable in the circumstances; and

The effect of a distribution under subsection (23) of this section is measured:

In circumstances to which this section and related sections of this title are applicable, such provisions supersede the applicability of any other statutes of this state with respect to the legality of distributions.

A transfer of the assets of a dissolved corporation to a trust or other successor entity of the type described in RCW 23B.14.030(4) constitutes a distribution subject to subsection (23) of this section only when and to the extent that the trust or successor entity distributes assets to shareholders.

(4) If not otherwise fixed under RCW 23B.07.030 or 23B.07.070, the record date for determining shareholders entitled to demand a special meeting is the first date on which an executed shareholder demand is delivered to the corporation. No written demand for a special meeting will be effective unless, within sixty days after the earliest date on which a demand delivered to the corporation as required by this section was executed, written demands executed by shareholders holding at least the percentage of votes specified in subsection (1)(b) of this section or, if applicable, fixed in accordance with subsection (2) or (3) of this section, have been delivered to the corporation.
RCW 23B.07.070 Record date.

(1) The bylaws may fix or provide the manner of fixing the record date for one or more voting groups in order to determine the shareholders entitled to notice of a shareholders' meeting, to demand a special meeting, to vote, or to approve any other corporate action. If the bylaws do not fix or provide for fixing a record date, the board of directors of the corporation may fix a future date as the record date, which date may not precede the date on which the resolution fixing the record date is approved by the board of directors.

(3) If the board of directors does not fix the record date for determining shareholders entitled to a share dividend, it is the date the board of directors authorizes the share dividend.

(4) If the board of directors does not fix the record date for determining shareholders entitled to a distribution, other than one involving a purchase, redemption, or other acquisition of the corporation's shares, it is the date the board of directors authorizes the distribution.

(5) A record date fixed under this section may not be more than seventy days before the meeting of shareholders or more than ten days prior to the date on which the first shareholder consent is executed under RCW 23B.07.040(1)(b).

(6) A determination of shareholders entitled to notice of or to vote at a shareholders' meeting is effective for any adjournment of the meeting unless the board of directors fixes a new record date, which it must do if the meeting is adjourned to a date more than one hundred twenty days after the date fixed for the original meeting.

(7) If a court orders a meeting adjourned to a date more than one hundred twenty days after the date fixed for the original meeting, it may provide that the original record date continues in effect or it may fix a new record date.

(9) Unless the articles of incorporation provide otherwise, approval by the shareholders of a public company is not required for a plan of merger if:

(a) The plan of merger expressly (i) permits or requires the merger to be effected under this subsection and (ii) provides that, if the merger is to be effected under this subsection, the merger will be effected as soon as practicable following the satisfaction of the requirements of subsection (9)(f) of this section;

(b) Another party to the merger or a parent of another party to the merger makes an offer to purchase, on the terms stated in the plan of merger, any and all of the outstanding shares of the corporation that, absent this subsection, would be entitled to vote on the plan of merger, except that the offer may exclude shares of the corporation that are owned at the commencement of the offer by the corporation, the offeror, or any parent of the offeror, or by any wholly owned subsidiary of any of the foregoing;

(c) The offer discloses that the plan of merger states that the merger will be effected as provided in subsection (9)(h) of this section;

(d) The offer remains open for at least ten days;

(e) The offeror purchases all shares properly tendered in response to the offer and not properly withdrawn;

(f) The (i) shares purchased by the offeror in accordance with the offer, (ii) shares the foregoing, and (iii) shares subject to an agreement that they are to be transferred, contributed or delivered to the offeror, any parent of the offeror, or any wholly owned subsidiary of any of the foregoing in exchange for shares or other interests in that offeror, parent or subsidiary, are collectively entitled to cast at least the minimum number of votes on the merger that, absent this subsection, would be required by chapter 23B.11 RCW for the approval of the merger by the shareholders entitled to vote on the merger at a meeting at which all shares entitled to vote on the approval were present and voted;

(g) The offeror or a wholly owned subsidiary of the offeror merges with or into the corporation; and

(h) Each outstanding share of each class or series of shares of the corporation that the offeror is offering to purchase in accordance with the offer, and which is not purchased in accordance with the offer, is to be converted in the merger into, or into the right to receive, the same amount and kind of securities, eligible interests, obligations, rights, cash, or other property to be paid or exchanged in accordance with the offer for each share of that class or series of shares that is tendered in response to the offer, except that shares of the corporation that are owned by the corporation or that are described in clause (ii) or (iii) of subsection (9)(f) of this section need not be converted into or exchanged for the consideration described in this subsection (9)(h).

(10) As used in subsection (9) of this section:

(a) “Offer” means the offer referred to in subsection (9)(b) of this section;

(b) “Offeror” means the person making the offer;

(c) “Parent” of an entity means a person that owns, directly or indirectly (through one or more wholly owned subsidiaries), all of the outstanding shares of or other interests in that entity;

(d) Shares tendered in response to the offer will be deemed to have been “purchased” in accordance with the offer at the earlier time as of which (i) the offeror has irrevocably accepted those shares for payment, and (ii) either (A) in the case of shares represented by certificates, the offeror, or the offeror’s designated depository or other agent, has physically received the certificates representing those shares, or (B) in the case of shares without certificates, those shares have been transferred into the account of the offeror or its designated depository or other agent, or an agent’s message relating to those shares has been received by the offeror or its designated depository or other agent; and

(e) “Wholly owned subsidiary” of a person means an entity of or in which that person owns, directly or indirectly (through one or more wholly owned subsidiaries), all of the outstanding shares or other interests.

(911) After a merger or share exchange is approved, and at any time before articles of merger or share exchange are filed, the planned merger or share exchange may be abandoned, subject to any contractual rights, without further shareholder approval, in accordance with the procedure set forth in the plan of merger or share exchange or, if none is set forth, in the manner determined by the board of directors.

RCW 23B.11.050 Articles of merger or share exchange.

(1) After a plan of merger or share exchange is approved by the shareholders, or adopted by the board of directors if shareholder approval is not required, the surviving or acquiring corporation entity shall deliver to the secretary of state for filing articles of merger or share exchange setting forth:

(b) The name and jurisdiction of organization of the surviving entity;

(c) If the surviving entity of the merger is a domestic corporation and its articles of incorporation are amended or amended and restated, the amendments to the surviving entity’s articles of incorporation or the amended and restated articles of incorporation of the surviving entity;

(2d) If shareholder approval of any domestic corporation party to the merger was not required, a statement to that effect; or

(3e) If approval of the shareholders of one or more domestic corporations party to the merger or share exchange was required, a statement that the merger or share exchange was duly approved by the shareholders of such domestic corporation pursuant to RCW 23B.11.030; and

(f) If approval of the shareholders of one or more other entities party to the merger was required, a statement that the merger was duly approved by the interest holders of such other entity in accordance with the organic law of such other entity.

(2) After a plan of share exchange has been approved by the shareholders of the corporation whose shares will be acquired in the share exchange, the acquiring corporation shall deliver to the secretary of state for filing articles of share exchange, executed by the acquiring corporation and the corporation whose shares will be acquired in the share exchange, stating:

(a) The name of the corporation whose shares will be acquired in the share exchange;

(b) The name of the acquiring corporation; and
(c) A statement that the plan of share exchange was duly approved by the shareholders of the corporation whose shares will be acquired in the share exchange pursuant to RCW 23B.11.030.

MEMORANDUM

To: Executive Committee, Business Law Section, Washington State Bar Association
From: Partnership and LLC Law Committee
Date: October 13, 2020
Re: Revisions to Limited Liability Company Act

This Memorandum describes a set of proposed amendments to Washington’s Limited Liability Company Act, RCW ch. 25.15 (the “Act”). The amendments are recommended by the Partnership and LLC Law Committee. The texts of the proposed amendments are attached to this Memorandum.

The reasoning behind each of the amendments is as follows.

1. Conversion Approval. The Act currently requires unanimous member approval of conversions as its default rule. Conversions can implement material changes to the rights of an LLC member, but dissenters’ rights are not available to the members of a converting LLC because of the unanimous-member approval requirement. However, like almost all of the Act’s default rules, the requirement for unanimous member approval of conversions can be modified by the LLC agreement. RCW 25.15.018.

An LLC agreement can be oral or written. RCW 25.15.006(7). Thus, an oral LLC agreement could authorize a less-than-unanimous threshold for member approval of a conversion. Because dissenters’ rights are available only to members who dissent from the consummation of a merger, dissenters’ rights would not be available for minority dissenting members in the event of a conversion. The proposed amendment to RCW 25.15.441 therefore states that an LLC conversion must be approved by all the members or as otherwise specified by a written LLC agreement. This change would prevent situations in which an oral LLC agreement could function to authorize approval of a conversion without providing for the remedy of dissenters’ rights for a minority member, which would be available to such a member in the case of a merger.

2. Admission of Transferee Upon Death of Single LLC Member. The Act’s default rule is that a person acquiring the interest of an LLC member (transferee) will hold all the economic rights of the transferor, and will be admitted as a member (and therefore hold management and voting rights) upon the consent of all members. RCW 25.15.116(2)(b).

When a single individual member dies, there are no members to approve the admission of the transferee as a member. If fewer than 90 days have passed since the death of the sole member, under RCW 25.15.265, the transferee could vote to admit itself as a member. In practice, however, it is often the case that the 90-day grace period elapses before any action is taken under this section. Under RCW 25.15.265, the expiration of this period without admission of transferee as a member could lead to the inadvertent dissolution and winding down of an operating entity, with the potential for breach of existing contracts and other unintended consequences.
The amendment to RCW 25.116 therefore provides that if a transferee acquires all of the transferor’s LLC interest, when the transferor is the only member of the LLC, the transferee is admitted as a member of LLC.

3. Member Withdrawal. The Act’s default rule is that a member may not “withdraw” from an LLC without the written consent of all other members. RCW 25.15.131(2). The withdrawal of a member is an event of dissociation, and the withdrawn member loses the right to participate as a member but retains its economic rights as a transferee. RCW 25.15.131(1)(a).

The Committee is aware of three problems with the Act’s current withdrawal provisions: (1) the lack of a definition of “withdraw,” (2) an internal conflict between separate provisions of the Act, and (3) the policy behind the bar on a member’s withdrawal from an LLC.

Definition. There is no definition in the Act of “withdraw,” and the Act does not indicate which acts of a member would constitute withdrawal from an LLC. The Washington courts have not provided clarity as to which acts constitute an LLC member’s withdrawal. Can a member withdraw by resigning as a manager? What result if a member simply stops providing services to the LLC? Decisions on this issue from courts of other states have varied widely.

Conflicting Provisions. A member may transfer its transferable interest (economic rights), including its entire transferable interest, without member consent. RCW 25.15.251(1). Unless admitted as a member by unanimous member consent, the transferee is not a member and has no management rights. RCW 25.15.116(2)(b). By transferring its entire transferable interest, the transferring member is dissociated from the LLC and has no management rights. In effect, the transferring member has paradoxically withdrawn from the LLC in compliance with the Act, but without member consent, in violation of the Act.

Policy: Reversing the Bar on Withdrawal. The Committee is aware that circumstances not infrequently arise when an LLC member has determined that it should withdraw from the LLC, but member consent is not available. For example, other members may be mismanaging the LLC or failing to remit withheld income taxes to the government. Many small, closely held businesses formed as LLCs have no LLC agreement, and the default rule disallowing withdrawal without member consent applies.

The Committee has determined that the better policy would be to allow member withdrawals as the default rule, provided the withdrawing member cannot demand any return of its capital and is not released from any contractual commitments it has made to the LLC. An LLC agreement that bars member withdrawal would override a permissive default rule.

Amendment. The proposed amendment addresses these three issues by adding a definition of withdrawal and by changing the default rule to allow withdrawal.

The amendment modifies RCW 25.15.006 by adding a definition of withdrawal: “withdrawal” is effective upon notice from a member or from the holder of a transferable interest that the member or transferee is surrendering to the LLC all of its economic rights and all of its management and other rights as a member.
The amendment to RCW 25.15.131(2) states that a member may withdraw from a limited liability company at any time, and that the member’s withdrawal does not entitle it to a return of its capital from the LLC. The Act currently states at RCW 25.15.131(4) that a member’s dissociation does not, of itself, discharge the member from any liability to the LLC or other members that the member incurred while a member of the LLC, and no amendment is proposed to that section.

4. Foreign Professional LLCs. The Act defines a “professional limited liability company” as a Washington LLC that is formed under RCW 25.15.046 for the purpose of rendering professional services. “Foreign professional limited liability company” is not defined, but RCW 25.15.051 authorizes a foreign professional limited liability company to render professional services in this state if it complies with the Act and each individual rendering professional services in Washington is legally authorized to do so. There is a conflict, because a professional LLC, which is by definition a Washington LLC, cannot at the same time be a foreign professional LLC.

The amendment resolves the conflict by adding a definition of “foreign professional limited liability company” to RCW 25.15.006.

The amendment also eliminates a gap in the types of LLCs authorized to be members of a professional LLC. The Act allows a professional LLC to be a member of another professional LLC, so long as the members and managers of both professional LLCs are licensed or legally authorized to render the same professional services. RCW 25.15.046(6)(b). The amendment would similarly allow a foreign professional LLC to be a member of a professional LLC, so long as the members and managers of the foreign professional LLC are licensed or legally authorized to render the same professional services in any jurisdiction other than Washington as the members and managers of the professional LLC.

This is similar to the approach used for limited liability partnerships. Foreign entities may become members of a Washington limited liability partnership organized for the purpose of rendering professional services, so long as the foreign entity is duly licensed to render the same professional services in any other jurisdiction. RCW 25.05.510(1).

5. Members With No Economic Interests. There are certain types of financing transactions where it is desirable to have an LLC member with no economic interests, but which nonetheless has other member rights, such as voting under certain conditions. The Act is presently unclear as to whether a Washington LLC can have such a member. The Delaware LLC Act has for a number of years authorized non-economic members, which in some cases results in Delaware being chosen as the state of formation for LLCs in such transactions.

The Committee has determined, consistent with the principle of maximizing freedom of contract, that the Washington Act should be amended to authorize LLC members without an economic interest in the LLC. The amendment states that a person may be admitted as a member of an LLC without acquiring a transferable interest and without making or being obligated to make a capital contribution.

HOUSEKEEPING CHANGES. The following amendments correct minor, nonsubstantive defects in the Act.
6. Heading Change. RCW 25.15.456 sets forth an approval requirement that applies to both mergers and conversions. The heading incorrectly refers only to conversions; the correction includes mergers in the heading.

7. List of Unanimous Voting Requirements. RCW 25.15.121(2) lists the LLC actions that require unanimous member approval, and cross-references each to the applicable statutory section. A reference to approval of a plan of conversion is added.

MEMORANDUM

To: Executive Committee, Business Law Section, Washington State Bar Association

From: Partnership and LLC Law Committee

Date: October 15, 2020

Re: Revisions to Uniform Limited Partnership Act

This Memorandum describes a set of proposed amendments to Washington’s Uniform Limited Partnership Act, RCW ch. 25.10 (the “Act”). The amendments are recommended by the Partnership and LLC Law Committee. The texts of the proposed amendments are attached to this Memorandum.

The reasoning behind each of the amendments is as follows.

1. Definition of “Partnership Agreement.” The Act currently defines a partnership agreement to include the agreement “as amended.” Restatements of partnership agreements are in fact treated as partnership agreements. This change makes the definition more accurate and complete by adding “or restated.” It also makes the language consistent with the definition of “limited liability company agreement” in Washington’s Limited Liability Company Act (the “LLC Act”).

2. Definition of “Person.” The Act’s definition of “Person” currently includes both a “corporation” and a “public corporation.” “Corporation” is normally understood to include all corporations, whether publicly or privately owned. The inclusion of a separate reference to a “public corporation” is therefore redundant and therefore does not add anything to the definition. The proposed amendment would remove that redundancy and make the language consistent with the definition of “Person” in the LLC Act.

3. Partner Transactions with Partnership. The Act currently provides that a partner has the same rights and obligations with respect to transactions with the partnership as a person not a partner. A partner, however, is or may be subject to other applicable law that would limit his or her rights and obligations in comparison with those of an unrelated party. The proposed amendment therefore adds the clause “subject to other applicable law” to make clear that a partner’s rights may not, in all circumstances, be as clear as those of a non-partner. It also makes the language consistent with the corresponding provision of the LLC Act.

4. Right to Distribution. The Act currently provides that a partnership’s obligation to make distributions is subject to offset for any amount owed to the partnership by the partner or dissociated partner on whose account the distribution is made. Because the “amount owed” may be greater than the “amount due and payable” on the date of any distribution, the “amount due and payable” is more appropriate as the amount to be offset. In addition, “any amount due and payable” makes the language consistent with the corresponding provision of the LLC Act.
5. Limitation on Distribution at time of Distribution. The Act imposes limits on a partnership’s ability to make distributions, based on the partnership’s ability to pay its debts and the relation of its total assets to total liabilities after a distribution. RCW 25.10.496. The proposed amendment to RCW 25.10.496(2) replaces the word “after” with the phrases “to the extent that at the time of” the distribution, and “after giving effect to the distribution.” The proposed amendment clarifies the limitation and makes the language consistent with the corresponding provision of the LLC Act.

6. Limitation on Distribution of Indebtedness. The Act limits the ability of a partnership to make distributions, based on the partnership’s solvency and its ability to pay its debts in the ordinary course. RCW 25.10.496. The current language of RCW 25.10.496(7) requires that when a partnership’s indebtedness is issued as a distribution, each payment of principal or interest on the indebtedness is treated as a distribution, the effect of which is measured on the date the payment is made. The corresponding provision in the LLC Act, however, distinguishes between two types of LLC indebtedness: (i) indebtedness whose terms provide that payments can be made only to the extent that a distribution could then be made, and (ii) all other indebtedness. The effect of the LLC’s indebtedness in the first category (payments are limited) is measured when payments are made. But the effect of all other LLC indebtedness is measured when the indebtedness is distributed, rather than later when payments on the indebtedness are made.

The proposed amendment to subsection (7) adopts the LLC Act’s two-tiered approach to distributions of partnership debt. Paragraph 7(a) of the amendment provides that a distribution of partnership indebtedness for which payments are limited to the extent that a distribution could then be made, is treated as a distribution whose effect is measured on the date payment is actually made. Paragraph 7(b) provides that, with respect to distributions of any other partnership indebtedness, the effect is to be measured as of the date the indebtedness is distributed.

The Committee believes that the approach of the LLC Act, i.e. to determine the legality of a distribution of partnership indebtedness when distributed rather than when payments on the debt are made, unless the terms of the indebtedness limit payment to the extent a distribution could then be made, is better policy. This policy is also reflected in the Business Corporation Act, RCW 23B.06.400. The proposed amendment will also make the language of this section consistent with the LLC Act.

7. Partner’s Transferable Interest. The current provision of the Act makes no statement concerning whether a partner’s transferable interest includes an interest in specific partnership property. The addition of a statement that it does not is good public policy and underscores the modern view that the entity is the owner of partnership property, and not the partners. The change is consistent with the corresponding provision in the LLC Act.

8. Effect of Conversion. The Act currently states that “[a]ll property owned by the converting organization remains vested in the converted organization”. Attorneys in real estate practice are more comfortable with language that refers specifically to title in real estate and all other property. Such language is also consistent with the expectations of corporate lawyers. Finally, it is consistent with the language in the corresponding provision of the LLC Act.

9. Effect of Merger. The current provision of the Act states that “[a]ll property owned by each constituent organization that ceases to exist vests in the surviving organization”. As is the case with respect to the effect of conversions, attorneys in real estate practice are more comfortable with language that refers specifically to title in real estate and all other property. Such language is also consistent with the expectations of corporate lawyers. Finally, it is consistent with the language in the corresponding provision of the LLC Act.

(2) Shares of one class or series may not be issued as a share dividend in respect to shares of another class or series unless (a) the articles of incorporation so authorize, (b) a majority of the votes entitled to be cast by the class or series to be issued approve the issue, or (c) there are no outstanding shares of the class or series to be issued.

(3) The board of directors may fix the record date for determining shareholders entitled to a share dividend, which date may not precede the date on which the resolution fixing the record date is approved by the board of directors. If the board of directors does not fix the record date for determining shareholders entitled to a share dividend, the record date is the date the board of directors authorizes the share dividend.

Sec. 103. RCW 23B.06.400 and 2009 c 189 s 12 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A board of directors may approve and the corporation may make distributions to its shareholders subject to restriction by the articles of incorporation and the limitation in subsection ((2)) (3) of this section.

If the board of directors does not fix a record date for determining shareholders entitled to a distribution, other than one involving a purchase, redemption, or other acquisition of the corporation's shares, the record date is the date the board of directors authorizes the distribution.

(3) No distribution may be made if, after giving it effect:

(a) The corporation would not be able to pay its liabilities as they become due in the usual course of business; or

(b) The corporation's total assets would be less than the sum of its total liabilities plus, unless the articles of incorporation permit otherwise, the amount that would be needed, if the corporation were to be dissolved at the time of the distribution, to satisfy the preferential rights upon dissolution of shareholders whose preferential rights are superior to those receiving the distribution.

(4) For purposes of determinations under subsection ((2)) (3) of this section:

(a) The board of directors may base a determination that a distribution is not prohibited under subsection ((2)) (3) of this section either on financial statements prepared on the basis of accounting practices and principles that are reasonable in the circumstances or on a fair valuation or other method that is reasonable in the circumstances; and

(b) Indebtedness of a corporation, including indebtedness issued as a distribution, is not considered a liability if its terms provide that payment of principal and interest are made only if and to the extent that payment of a distribution to shareholders could then be made under this section.

((4)) (5) The effect of a distribution under subsection ((2)) (3) of this section is measured:

(a) In the case of a distribution of indebtedness, the terms of which provide that payment of principal and interest are made only if and to the extent that payment of a distribution to shareholders could then be made under this section, each payment of principal or interest is treated as a distribution, the effect of which is measured on the date the payment is actually made; or

(b) In the case of any other distribution:

(i) If the distribution is by purchase, redemption, or other acquisition of the corporation's shares, the effect of the distribution is measured as of the earlier of the date any money or other property is transferred or debt incurred by the corporation, or the date the shareholder ceases to be a shareholder with respect to the acquired shares;

(ii) If the distribution is of indebtedness other than that described in ((subsection (4))) (a) and (b)(i) of this subsection, the effect of the distribution is measured as of the date the indebtedness is distributed; and

(iii) In all other cases, the effect of the distribution is measured as of the date the distribution is approved if payment occurs within one hundred twenty days after the date of approval, or the date the payment is made if it occurs more than one hundred twenty days after the date of approval.

((5)) (6) A corporation's indebtedness to a shareholder incurred by reason of a distribution made in accordance with this section is at parity with the corporation's indebtedness to its general, unsecured creditors except to the extent provided otherwise by agreement.

((6)) (7) In circumstances to which this section and related sections of this title are applicable, such provisions supersede the applicability of any other statutes of this state with respect to the legality of distributions.

((7)) (8) A transfer of the assets of a dissolved corporation to a trust or other successor entity of the type described in RCW 23B.14.030(4) constitutes a distribution subject to subsection ((2)) (3) of this section only when and to the extent that the trust or successor entity distributes assets to shareholders.

Sec. 104. RCW 23B.07.020 and 2020 c 57 s 48 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A corporation shall hold a special meeting of shareholders:
   (a) On call of its board of directors or the person or persons authorized to do so by the articles of incorporation or bylaws; or
   (b) Except as set forth in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, if shareholders holding at least ten percent of all the votes entitled to be cast on any issue proposed to be considered at the proposed special meeting execute, date, and deliver to the corporation one or more written demands for the meeting describing the purpose or purposes for which it is to be held.

(2) The right of shareholders of a public company to call a special meeting may be limited or denied to the extent provided in the articles of incorporation.

(3) If the corporation is other than a public company, the articles of incorporation or bylaws may require the demand specified in subsection (1)(b) of this section be made by a greater percentage, not in excess of twenty-five percent, of all the votes entitled to be cast on any issue proposed to be considered at the proposed special meeting.

(4) If not otherwise fixed under RCW 23B.07.030 or 23B.07.070, the record date for determining shareholders entitled to demand a special meeting is the first date on which an executed shareholder demand is delivered to the corporation. No written demand for a special meeting will be effective unless, within 60 days after the earliest date on which a demand delivered to the corporation as required by this section was executed, written demands executed by shareholders holding at least the percentage of votes specified in subsection (1)(b) of this section or, if applicable, fixed in accordance with subsection (2) or (3) of this section, have been delivered to the corporation.

(5) Subject to subsection (6) of this section:
(a) Special shareholders' meetings may be held in or out of this state at the place stated in or fixed in accordance with the bylaws; and

(b) If no place is stated or fixed in accordance with the bylaws, special meetings shall be held at the corporation's principal office.

(6) Unless the articles of incorporation or bylaws provide otherwise, if the board of directors or another person is authorized in the bylaws to determine the place of special meetings, the board of directors or such other person may, in the sole discretion of the board of directors or such other person, determine that a special meeting will not involve a physical assembly of shareholders at a particular geographic location, but instead will be held solely by means of remote communication, in accordance with RCW 23B.07.080.

(7) Only business within the purpose or purposes described in the meeting notice required by RCW 23B.07.050(3) may be conducted at a special shareholders' meeting.

Sec. 105. RCW 23B.07.070 and 2009 c 189 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The bylaws may fix or provide the manner of fixing the record date for one or more voting groups in order to determine the shareholders entitled to notice of a shareholders' meeting, to demand a special meeting, to vote, or to approve any other corporate action. If the bylaws do not fix or provide for fixing a record date, the board of directors of the corporation may fix ((a future date as)) the record date, which date may not precede the date on which the resolution fixing the record date is approved.

(2) If not otherwise fixed under subsection (1) of this section or RCW 23B.07.030, the record date for determining shareholders entitled to notice of and to vote at an annual or special shareholders' meeting is the day before the first notice is delivered to shareholders.

(3) ((If the board of directors does not fix the record date for determining shareholders entitled to a share dividend, it is the date the board of directors authorizes the share dividend.))

(4) If the board of directors does not fix the record date for determining shareholders entitled to a distribution, other than one involving a purchase, redemption, or other acquisition of the corporation's shares, it is the date the board of directors authorizes the distribution.
A record date fixed under this section may not be more than seventy days before the meeting of shareholders or more than ten days prior to the date on which the first shareholder consent is executed under RCW 23B.07.040(1)(b).

A determination of shareholders entitled to notice of or to vote at a shareholders' meeting is effective for any adjournment of the meeting unless the board of directors fixes a new record date, which it must do if the meeting is adjourned to a date more than one hundred twenty days after the date fixed for the original meeting.

If a court orders a meeting adjourned to a date more than one hundred twenty days after the date fixed for the original meeting, it may provide that the original record date continues in effect or it may fix a new record date.

Sec. 106. RCW 23B.07.200 and 2020 c 57 s 52 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) After fixing a record date for a meeting, a corporation shall prepare an alphabetical list of the names of all its shareholders on the record date who are entitled to notice of a shareholders' meeting. The list must be arranged by voting group, and within each voting group by class or series of shares, and show the address of and number of shares held by each shareholder. Nothing contained in this section requires the corporation to include on such list the electronic mail address or other electronic contact information of a shareholder.

(2) The shareholders' list must be available for inspection by any shareholder, beginning ten days prior to the meeting and continuing through the meeting either: (a) On a reasonably accessible electronic network, on condition that the information necessary to gain access to the list is provided in or accompanies the notice of the meeting; or (b) at the corporation's principal office or at a place identified in the meeting notice in the city where the meeting will be held. If the corporation elects to make the list available on an electronic network, the corporation may take reasonable steps to ensure that such information is available only to shareholders or their agents or attorneys. A shareholder, the shareholder's agent, or the shareholder's attorney is entitled to inspect the list, during regular business hours and at the shareholder's expense, during the period it is available for inspection.

(3) The corporation (shall) must make the shareholders' list available at the meeting, and any shareholder, the shareholder's agent, or the shareholder's attorney is entitled to inspect the list at any time during the meeting or any adjournment. If the meeting is held solely by means of remote communication in accordance with RCW 23B.07.010(4) or 23B.07.020(6), then the list must be available for inspection by any shareholder, the shareholder's agent, or the shareholder's attorney during the whole time of the meeting on a reasonably accessible electronic network, and the information required to access the list must be provided with the notice of the meeting.

(4) If the corporation refuses to allow a shareholder, the shareholder's agent, or the shareholder's attorney to inspect the shareholders' list before or at the meeting, the superior court of the county where a corporation's principal office, or, if none in this state, its registered office, is located, on application of the shareholder, may summarily order the inspection at the corporation's expense and may postpone the meeting for which the list was prepared until the inspection is complete.

(5) A shareholder's right to copy the shareholders' list, and a shareholder's right to otherwise inspect and copy the record of shareholders, is governed by RCW 23B.16.020(3).

(6) Refusal or failure to prepare or make available the shareholders' list does not affect the validity of corporate action approved at the meeting.

(2) For a plan of merger or share exchange to be approved:

(a) The board of directors must recommend the plan of merger or share exchange to the shareholders unless (i) the board of directors determines that because of conflict of interest or other special circumstances it should make no recommendation or (ii) RCW 23B.08.245 applies, and in either case the board of directors communicates the basis for so proceeding to the shareholders; and

(b) The shareholders entitled to vote must approve the plan, except as provided in subsection (7) of this section.

Separate voting by additional voting groups is required on a plan of merger under the circumstances described in RCW 23B.11.035.
