Implementing DEI Practices in the Working Families Tax Credit

The Working Families Tax Credit is a new program that will provide payments up to $1,200 to low-to-moderate income individuals and families. The amounts are based on income level and the number of qualifying children (if any). The purpose of the Working Families Tax Credit is to stimulate the local economy, promote racial equity, and support the financial stability and well-being of Washington residents and their families.

Please join us to learn more about this program and how it was developed by actively recruiting and collaborating with individuals and organizations from marginalized communities to ensure that the voices of those affected are centered. Faculty will also share insights on how to promote the credit to communities that experience barriers to accessing critical information and services.
